Title: Cotofana's Manual for Facial Anatomy Courses

Subtitle: Taking notes keeps the memory alive

Short text:

Esthetic medicine is a rapidly growing medical field that is unparalleled in its growth across most medical disciplines. This growth is driven by new technologic advancements but also by the exponential number of new scientific publications discovering and aligning facial anatomy with clinically relevant treatment modalities.

To stay up to date with this informational rush and not get left behind, it is paramount to participate in educational courses exploring facial anatomy in a new and clinically meaningful way tailored to the needs of esthetic health care providers. This coursebook was designed to address these educational needs and to accompany the learning pathway of each health care provider.

Based on the bestselling book "Facial Anatomy—Layer by Layer", this coursebook provides guidance with concise and informative text passages but leaves su cient space to write notes and document words from your instructors on a chapter-by-chapter basis. Each chapter is structured into neuromodulators and soft tissue filler sections, following and guiding facial dissections for the upper, middle, and lower face.
